Engineered for relentless industrial performance.

The Neo H: Where uncompromising power meets rugged reliability.

This isn't just a mini PC; it's the industrial workhorse engineered to drive your most critical control systems and demanding applications. Built from solid steel and designed for 24/7 operation, it delivers the robust performance you need where it matters most.

Built to endure and perform

- Experience seamless control for complex industrial automation, process monitoring, and machine interfacing.
- Leverage powerful remote management and display capabilities for effortless oversight and maintenance from anywhere.

- Run specialised location-based and operational software with native support for key development environments.
- Benefit from unparalleled connectivity with dual ethernet ports, perfect for network redundancy or segmented control systems.
- Rely on a 100% Indian-designed and manufactured solution, built with pride for durability in challenging environments.

Deploy the Neo H with absolute confidence. It's the robust, high-performance computing core ready to anchor your industrial operations.
