Reliable computing muscle in a compact, quiet footprint.

No need for a bulky tower sitting under your desk. The Thinvent Neo R/4 Mini PC delivers the everyday performance your business needs, neatly tucked away to leave your workspace clear and clutter-free.

Why you'll appreciate it

- Responsive multitasking for office suites, web apps, and business software, so you can move between tasks without frustrating delays.
- Quick boot-ups and snappy program loading, thanks to efficient storage that gets you working sooner.
- Whisper-quiet operation that won't disturb a busy office, shop floor, or home workspace.
- A sturdy, powder-coated steel housing that shrugs off the knocks and bumps of real-world use.

Where it shines

- Perfect as a point-of-sale terminal, digital signage player, or reception desk computer where space is tight.
- Ideal for light industrial settings, such as machine-side data entry or production monitoring, where a dependable PC keeps things moving.

- A superb choice for network edge applications, with dual gigabit Ethernet for firewall, routing, or security gateway roles.
- Comfortable in a 24/7 operation, giving you the peace of mind that your systems stay online when you need them most.

Built to keep working

- Designed for reliable performance in everyday environments, from 0°C to 40°C, with no exotic cooling required.
- Powered by a low-energy processor that balances capability with efficiency, helping keep your electricity bills in check.
- Fully certified to recognised standards, so you can deploy with confidence.
- Backed by Thinvent's commitment to solid industrial engineering, it's a dependable workhorse for years of service.

The Neo R/4 is the straightforward, no-nonsense choice when you need a compact PC that simply gets on with the job.
