Compact power, boundless possibilities – the Thinvent Neo R/4 puts serious desktop performance neatly on your desk.

Say goodbye to bulky towers and noisy fans. The Neo R/4 is your quiet, dependable workhorse, ready to handle the daily demands of the modern office, reception desk, or home workspace. Its cleverly compact steel body slips effortlessly into tight spaces, behind monitors, or under counters, freeing up valuable real estate while delivering the smooth, responsive performance you need to power through spreadsheets, web apps, and productivity suites.

Why choose the Neo R/4?

- It simply fits: no more wrestling with oversized PCs. This mini marvel makes the most of every square inch of your workspace.
- It keeps you working: built for reliability, it runs cool and steady through long shifts, so you can focus on your tasks, not your technology.

- It is ready for business: pre-loaded with Windows 11 Professional, it gives you the familiar, secure environment your team can rely on from day one.
- It connects without fuss: with dual display outputs and gigabit Ethernet, you can spread your work across two screens and stay reliably linked to your network, all without a hitch.
- It is built to last: the powder-coated steel chassis is tough enough for busy environments, while the low-power design keeps energy costs down and your conscience clear.

Whether you are kitting out a modern office, upgrading a shop floor, or setting up a space-efficient home station, the Neo R/4 delivers clean, quiet, and capable computing. It is the practical choice that does not compromise on performance or professionalism.

Make the smart move to a smaller footprint and a bigger experience. Choose the Thinvent Neo R/4.
